Local Medical Examiner to Pitch Wall Rx™ on Shark Tank on January 10, 2014 at 9 p.m.

Connolly Gallagher law firm goes above and beyond to support client's invention

Wilmington, DE (December 19, 2013) — Dr. Jim Lewis, a local medical examiner from Chester County, Pennsylvania, will be featured pitching his invention, Wall Rx, on Shark Tank, the hit ABC reality show where entrepreneurs pitch their businesses to a panel of potential investors. Wall Rx is a unique, three-step "prescription" for repairing a hole in the wall – a complete drywall repair kit that leaves a wall looking new. With no tools, skills or mess, this new product can quickly and inexpensively fix any type of hole up to 4" in diameter – including holes from hammers, fists, outlets, door knobs, picture hooks, screws, toys, nails, drills, and countless other causes. The product is currently available in all 1,700 Lowe's locations nationwide and can be purchased by visiting www.lowes.com.

While Dr. Lewis cannot yet divulge the outcome of his appearance on Shark Tank, he can speak to the valuable and intangible personal and professional journey that led him to the show.

"After a personal mishap with a Christmas tree that left a hole in my family's wall, I decided to use my medical background as inspiration to create this consumer-friendly product that essentially acts like medicine or a bandage on the wall," said Dr. Lewis. "Then, with the help of the savvy team from Connolly Gallagher LLP, I was able to navigate the complex world of taking a product from conception, to invention, and eventually to market."

Going far beyond the scope of traditional legal counsel, the team at Connolly Gallagher LLP, led by Partner Jerry Miraglia, assisted Dr. Lewis with the various steps needed to get Wall Rx off the ground. They arranged meetings with potential investors, vendors, and even encouraged Dr. Lewis to audition for Shark Tank, with the foresight that his product would be a perfect fit.

"I knew this product was a rare and profitable business idea from the moment I met Dr. Lewis just three years ago," said Jerry Miraglia, Partner at Connolly Gallagher LLP. "Since then and through our unique relationship, Wall Rx has gained significant traction in the national home improvement space, most notably on the shelves of one of our country's top retailers, Lowe's. We're thrilled to work alongside Dr. Lewis on this journey which is hopefully just beginning."

About Wall Rx

Wall Rx is a complete drywall repair kit manufactured in the USA. The product retails for under $10 and is available in four single sized kits covering damage as small as 1" (caused by a hammer) to as large as 4" (caused by a fist or foot), as well as a multi-kit, which can be used to repair up to four holes. Whether the consumer is a professional, a DIY enthusiast, or a busy mom running the house, Wall Rx is a fast, easy and inexpensive way to repair holes in drywall. The kit comes with everything needed to complete the job with no mess – a clear disc, frame with compound and sandpaper. No tools, skills or additional costs are required.
